North Shore Veterinary Clinic Dr. Terri Clemett

As an employer Dr. Terri Clemett extends her quest for continuing education to her staff by enabling them to attend seminars, lectures or training weekends. If pertinent to their position she will even fund their course fees and compensate their wages for time spent attending the course. These courses not only further their own education, but also benefit the needs of her clients and patients. Her practice of Veterinary medicine is empowering to her staff and her dedication to animal welfare on the North Shore is inspiring. Not only does she celebrate birthdays and Christmas with her staff, but she also looks out for the well-being of their pets too.
